Rossa,

Tots of luck in the future to a swell kid.

Thays Diane

For centuries the tea leaf has been the symbol of countless fortunes, some successful, others sorrow-filled, many rewarding, but all revealing.

Over its wax-coated surface, tracing its ever present veins, people have sought—but few have found—the key to the ageless, unaccountable, vastly mysterious legend of the

TEA LEAF

A JOURNEY FROM THE FIRST DAWN

The winding path of life makes many stops. At each platform new passengers depart for new and strange destinations. Faces of people and places change with the unsettling swiftness of a tropical night. But each sunrise opens our eyes to still more enriching and ever more broadening experiences. The journey is one of electrifying swiftness — it is charged with vitality and hope.

We are at the edge of a new horizon. Our world tremors with the unsteadiness of youthful dreams. We realize and comprehend the awesome task before us. Graduation brings to a close four years of preparation for the all important transition from uncertain youth to responsible adulthood.

Paths separate and friends part. But the knowledge we have gained will remain with us always. Our education has been more than lectures and lessons. It has been a period in which we have learned to understand and believe. The moments we have shared cannot be erased. The blueprints for the future have taken form in the intellectual and social experiences of the past four years. Our journey has reached the crossroads.

It is with this realization that the Tea Leaf staff has endeavored to compile a living record of this important but all-too-brief odyssey. With a living sketch of your high school life complete, we dedicate to you, the Class of '81, this yearbook.

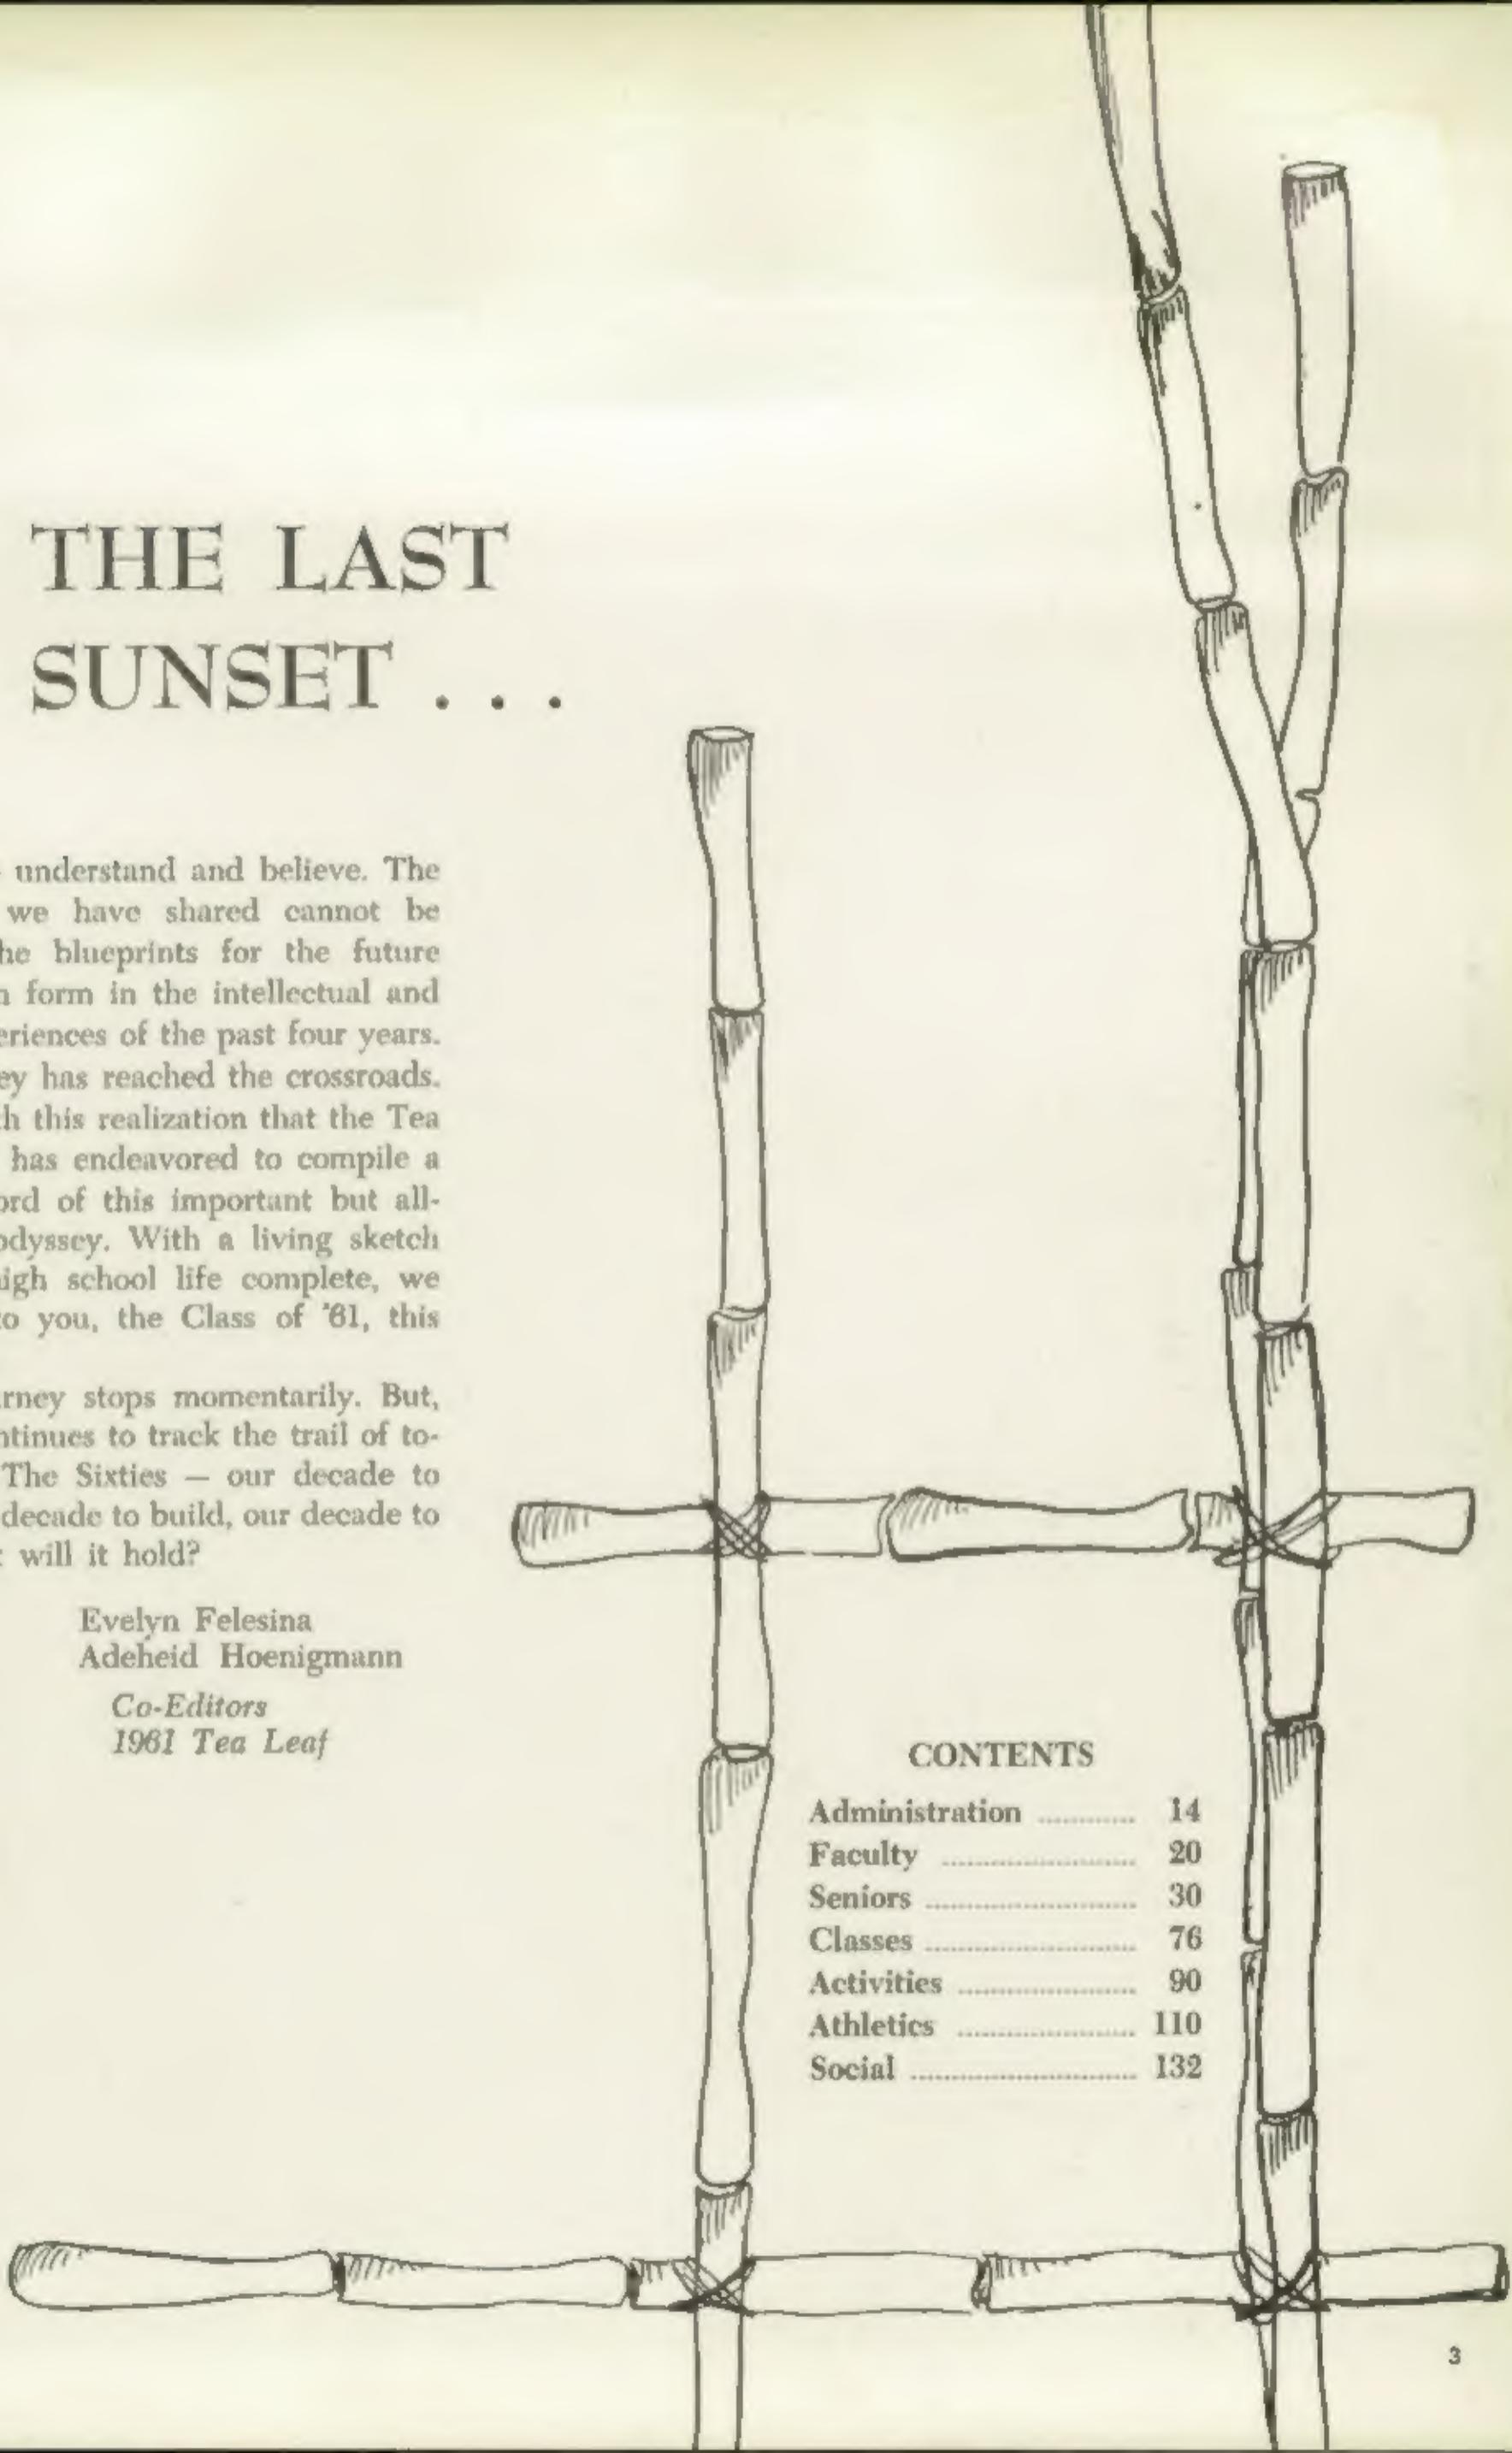

Our journey stops momentarily. But, soon it continues to track the trail of tomorrows. The Sixties — our decade to write, our decade to build, our decade to live. What will it hold?

It is with tremendous pride that the Tea Leaf presents as their Man of the Year, Raymond H. Flanagan. A person of great integrity, honor, and uncompromising principles, Mr. Flanagan has served as an inspiration to all those who have known him. In both his professional and personal life he has displayed outstanding qualities of character. Practicing law for 27 years, this administrator of justice has wisely counseled all those seeking his assistance.

Raymond Flanagan was born in New York City, but his family moved to East Rutherford when he was only 14 months old. Completing his elementary education, he ascended the steps of our own "Alma Mater", E.R.H.S. While track and football filled his athletic program, he found the Maroon and Grey debating club a stimulating mental activity. With an exceptionally fine high school record behind him, Mr. Flanagan entered New York University. It was at N.Y.U. that he was able to pursue a pre-law curriculum with an emphasis on literature and government. After college came law school and years of deep sustained study. He graduated from N.J. Law School (now Rutgers Law School) cum laude in 1933 and set up practice in association with Albert D'Amato.

For twelve years, "Ray" (as he is known to his friends) Flanagan has had his own private practice. His deep-seated devotion for the law is evident in his determination to see its principles upheld and respected. A member of the Bergen County and State Bar Association, he has become one of the area's most highly regarded attorneys.

Mrs. Flanagan, a third grade teacher in the Longfellow School Teaneck, has been a vital help to her husband. She and their two daughters, Nancy (a freshman at St. John's College) and Maureen (a student at Immaculate Heart Academy), have provided the basis for an extremely happy home life. The Flanagans have traveled throughout the United States, Europe, Mexico, and Canada. In 1956 Mr. Flanagan has read the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" in its entirety three times. Faulkner and Hemingway top his list of literary "musts".

One of East Rutherford High School's most illustrious alumni, Raymond Flanagan has never hesitated to be of service to his community—as councilman from 1934 to 1940 and borough attorney 1949 to 1958. He worked unceasingly for civic welfare. His brilliant mind, inexhaustible energy, and faithful adherence to the cause of justice have more than earned him the title, "MAN OF THE YEAR".

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Public education in the United States is for all the children of all the people. The American people as a whole have a firm belief in the value of education and about its role in developing productive and happy lives.

The Board of Education has provided you with the wherewithal to obtain a good high school education. We have carried out the recommendations of the administration, the buildings have been kept in good repair, the best teaching personnel have been engaged, the instructional materials are up to date.

We know you have gained in stature during the past four years. May you continue this growth and, on behalf of the board, I wish you success in whatever endeavor you follow.

CLAYTON HITCHNER

My sincere congratulations are extended to the 1961 graduating class of East Rutherford High School. Many educational opportunities have been provided for you during the past four years in preparation for your life's duties. As a result of your having taken part in the many activities offered at our school, as well as the academic and carnal part of our program, you have gained a foundation for your future. Many of you will continue with your education in various schools and colleges; others will choose a career and start working as soon as you are graduated. May I take this opportunity to wish you success in whatever endeavor you follow.

CLAYTON HITCHNER
Superintendent of Schools

VINCENT ZICCARDI

PRINCIPAL

Since your class is the first one that I have served as principal, I associate so many fond memories with you, that I truly regret your leaving us. I shall long remember your cooperation and fine school spirit. However, to you, this graduation marks the beginning of a new phase of your life.

During your four years in high school, you have developed many skills and acquired a fund of knowledge, both of which are essential to success. I hope that you have been stimulated to the point that you will continue your education in one way or another, so that you may become a more effective member of your community. Life in a democratic society requires an educated citizenry and we are hopeful that you will be prepared for the arduous tasks ahead.

I want to congratulate you on your graduation and wish you well in whatever you undertake to do in the future. May you continue to reflect credit on your family, school, and community.

VINCENT ZICCARDI
Principal

This graduating class is one of which we can be extremely proud. In recent years, few classes have had a clearer vision of the importance of learning and the contributions which it can make to a richer and more satisfactory way of life. The world of tomorrow will call for leadership, intelligence, and service. It is significant that the foundation for these qualifications have been completed during the past four years in our high school. The remainder of the task lies ahead. May I wish you the great joy which comes from having found your place in life through service to your school.

SENIOR
PRESIDENT

ERIC DRACHE

Graduation from high school marks the culmination of eighteen years of sincere, dedicated parental guidance and public instruction. Most of us now realize the quality of this stupendous achievement which has transformed us from helpless infancy to the brink of adulthood. Whether we enjoy great success or suffer constant defeat in later life, we shall be eternally grateful and indebted to you, our parents and teachers, for laying firm our basic foundation.

Culmination is only a minor, transient aspect of graduation. Graduation is not really an ending; it is the beginning of adult life in a highly technical and complex era. The science, home economics, business, and history students of today will become the scientists, housewives, corporation owners, and political leaders of tomorrow.

In tomorrow's world, our world, there will be no place for the unskilled, the uneducated.

The challenge of the future lies directly ahead of each and every graduate. It has been predicted by experts that the period within our lifetime will reveal the greatest scientific, technological, and medical achievements ever conceived by mankind. The gravest problems and the severest challenges, however, are not of a tangible, material nature. Communism, prejudicial discrimination, party strife, illiteracy, and poverty are evils which must be conquered if we are to enjoy the benefits of the aforementioned achievements.

Let every member of the class of 1961 strive to combat the evils in the world and to promote the ideals of peace and prosperity.

ACTIVITIES

"On occasions of a great or difficult crisis, you see a man's stature; on occasions of good luck or mishap, you see his great or small mind, in moments of satisfaction or anger, you see man's degree of moral culture; in a man's refusal or acceptance of a course of action with or against the crowd, you see a man's sense of judgment."

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the capable direction of Miss M. Dexheimer and Mr. J. Subda, is a body of elected students who serve and represent the student body in many capacities.

Student Council projects fall into two main categories, the promotion of school spirit and the providing of services to the school.

The suggestion box, the wildecat mascot, the basketball pep rally, and the annual Student Council vs. Faculty Basketball game were devices aimed at increasing school spirit. The chartered buses for the football games, the student handbook, the debate, the open meetings, and the Christmas revue were successful projects intended to serve the school and the community.

The 1960-61 Student Council under the leadership of Neil Bender, Evelyn Cesina, Glenn Johnson, and Joseph Matassa enjoyed a very progressive and successful year.

TRIANGLE

"BEAT THAT DEADLINE"

"Beat that deadline" was the password on this year's Triangle Staff. Striving to make the literary voice of E.R.H.S. heard throughout the school, the newspaper's host of reporters worked many long hours preparing for publication. Led by Editor Dianne Balbach, Associate Editors Alvin Lipton, Richard Geiselhart, and ably assisted by advisors Mrs. C. Ray and Mrs. E. Tagawa, those journalists planned several colorful and imaginative holiday issues.

The 1960-1961 Triangle will long be remembered for its extremely varied and informative school service.

TRI-Y

The Tri-Y, headed by Dorothy Deleasa, president; Joyce Glionna, vice-president; Carol Baker, secretary; and Linda Paul, treasurer, is under the untiring guidance of Mrs. J. Montgomery.

Launching an active year with a Candle-light Service for all its members, the club then organized an Easter Cerebral Palsy drive and a Christmas visit to the Bergen County Home, where they distributed numerous gifts.

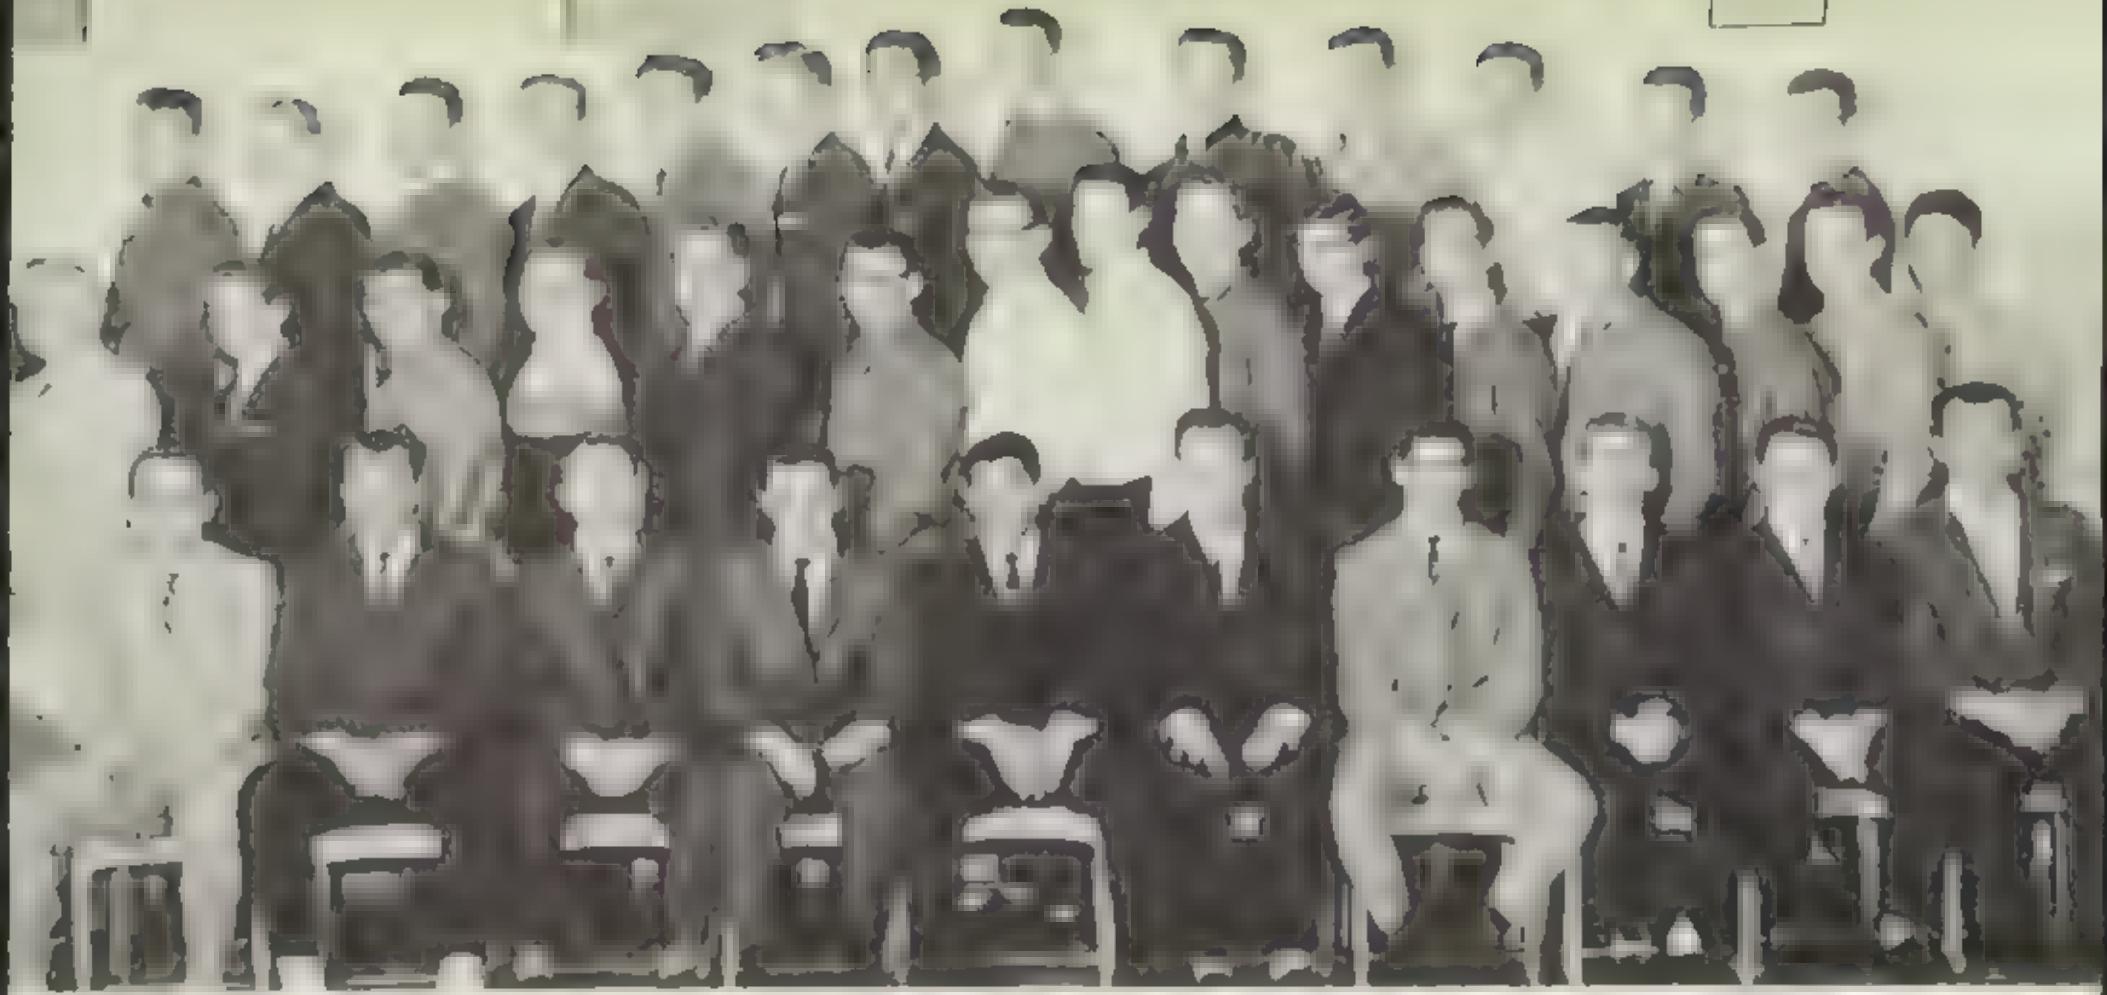

The high spot of Tri-Y activity, and also a very memorable event for all students, was a glittering, semi-formal St. Patrick's Day dance appropriately entitled "Shimmering Shamrocks."

KEY CLUB

The Key Club, under the capable direction of Mr. F. Nicholas, is an affiliate of the internationally known Kiwanis Club.

Providing service to the school and the community is the primary objective of the Key Club. Two such service projects were the giving of baskets of food to needy families on Christmas and the providing of ushers for Parents Night.

An excursion to the Hoffman LaRoche pharmaceutical plant and a series of luncheons at which guest lecturers spoke were some of the activities the Key Clubbers enjoyed.

The Key Club under the leadership of George Becker, president; Ken Cochran, vice-president; Pete Carparelli, secretary; and Joe Schneider, treasurer, enjoyed a very successful year.

Since its establishment in 1939 by advisors Miss Margaret Zimmermann and Miss Wilma DeVries, the Eta Rho Chapter of the International Honor Society for High School Journalists has worked with two purposes in mind. One is to elevate journalism standards in the high school, and the other is to provide journalistic experience for interested students.

Eligible for membership are juniors and seniors who have displayed outstanding scholastic, character, and journalistic traits

Through the efforts of President Loretta Kuklis, Vice President Linda Dignardi, Treasurer Barbara Stachula, and Secretary Darvl Smith, the members have been able to gain valuable knowledge that will aid them in their future careers. Lectures by Laughton W. Blanton, Director of Admissions of Montclair State College, and Mr J. Leale, a practice teacher from Seton Hall, told our Future Teachers about some problems they might encounter while working for their education degrees

These are a few of America's Future Nurses—preparing to serve humanity by making patients more comfortable and pains more bearable. After a total of 50 hours of dedicated work at Passaic General Hospital, they will receive "badges"—symbols of achievement to be proudly worn. Other activities included trips to nursing schools and medical institutions.

Our school nurse Mrs. Bruinooge, President C. Van De Velde, Vice President J. Pletsch, Secretary J. Mathews, and Treasurer J. Vitale work smoothly together for the benefit of the whole club.

HOBBY CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. S. Ferraro, the Hobby Club of East Rutherford High School strives to develop vocational training. Working on projects, such as scenery for our school plays, park benches, or bulletin boards for our halls, the boys also create projects of their own. The quality of their work proved that the Hobby Club under the leadership of Andrew Wacht, Philip Alberta, John Christodora, and Richard Moller the club had a successful year.

ART CLUB

Take a few clean brushes, about a gallon of multi-colored paints and rolls of smooth paper then add some enthusiastic young artists. Viola! Proof of their accomplishments are the stage settings and Christmas decorations they helped advisor Mrs. Blanchard and her art classes create. Of the many interesting projects, tapered sequin-studded candles proved to be the most fun to make.

Once again our Wildcat football team has brought honor and glory to the halls of East Rutherford High School. The Wildcats really showed their worth by turning in fine performances against some of the best teams in the area. Despite the odds and the ratings of these teams, the squad always gave its all. A shining example of this is the upset victory over a highly regarded Garfield eleven. Boasting some of the best ball players in the conference and apparently heading for the PVC championship, Garfield was at the mercy of the hard-hitting, high-spirited, Wildcats. The other Wildcat victories were over Central, Lodi, and Thanksgiving Day rival, Lyndhurst.

Outstanding performances by George Becker, Louis Irby, Richard De Lauro, Joseph Schneider, John Di Napoli, to name just a few, sparked the squad throughout the season. Joe Schneider and Lou Irby were rewarded for their fine efforts by being selected to the Passaic Valley Conference All-Star Team.

Although nine senior members of the squad will be graduating this June, we can count on the players who will return to make next year's season as successful as this year's.

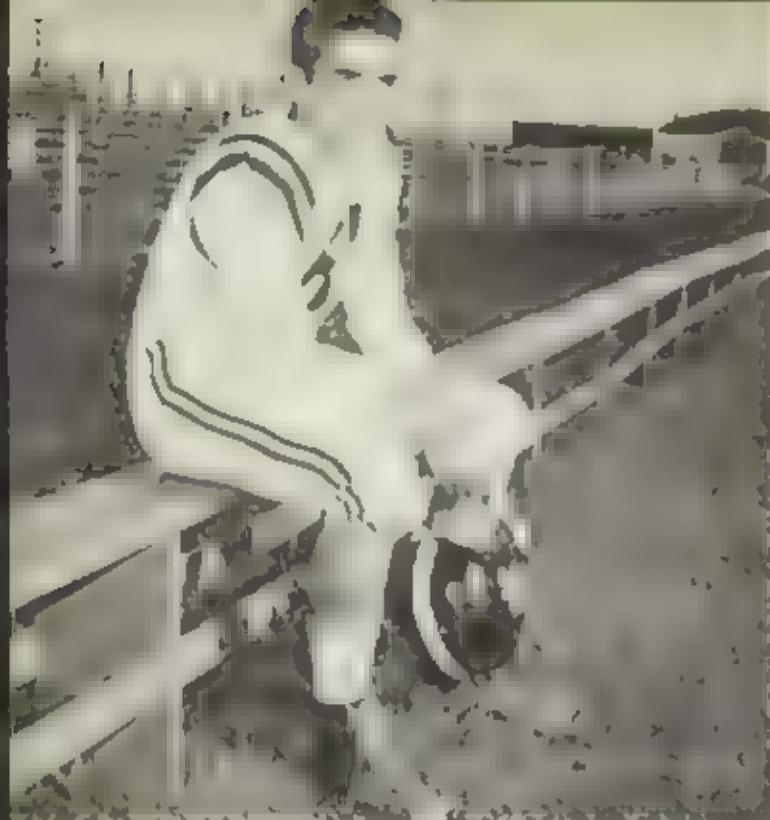

This is where they use their knowledge of the game. Here planned strategy actually works, and physical training makes all the difference. Here, also, a boy gains character, and learns some of the lessons of life. On this field many boys become better boys, and many more boys become men.

The "football field" — boys go on it, men come off

BASKETBALL 1960-61

The success of this year's basketball team cannot be measured by merely looking at the won-lost record. As in any sport, there are certain other considerations that determine a team's worth. These are teamwork, sportsmanship, spirit and desire, and willingness to give their all for the team and the school. Surely, then, because our team has displayed superiority in these, we can look back with pride to the 1960-61 basketball season.

The manner in which the team has played each game, win or lose, is a tribute to head coach John Subda. Under his guidance the boys have come to realize the true meaning and purpose of athletics.

Bright spots of the season have come with sparkling performances by sophomore Rich De Lauro, junior Lou Irby, and seniors John Di Napoli and Edward Kesgen.

It was an exciting, profitable season, one that will rank among East Rutherford's finest.

1960 TRACK TEAM

The East Rutherford undermen competing as they do every year in a tough Passaic Valley Conference schedule have been able to maintain this year through hard work, training and perseverance, the distinctive record which they hold. Through the efforts of Coach Ken Sinofsky, the Wildcats have been able to cut down the terrible odds against them.

The enthusiasm and typical team spirit against all odds for which East Rutherford is known and respected was never better displayed than by the Wildcat track team this year.

BASEBALL 1961

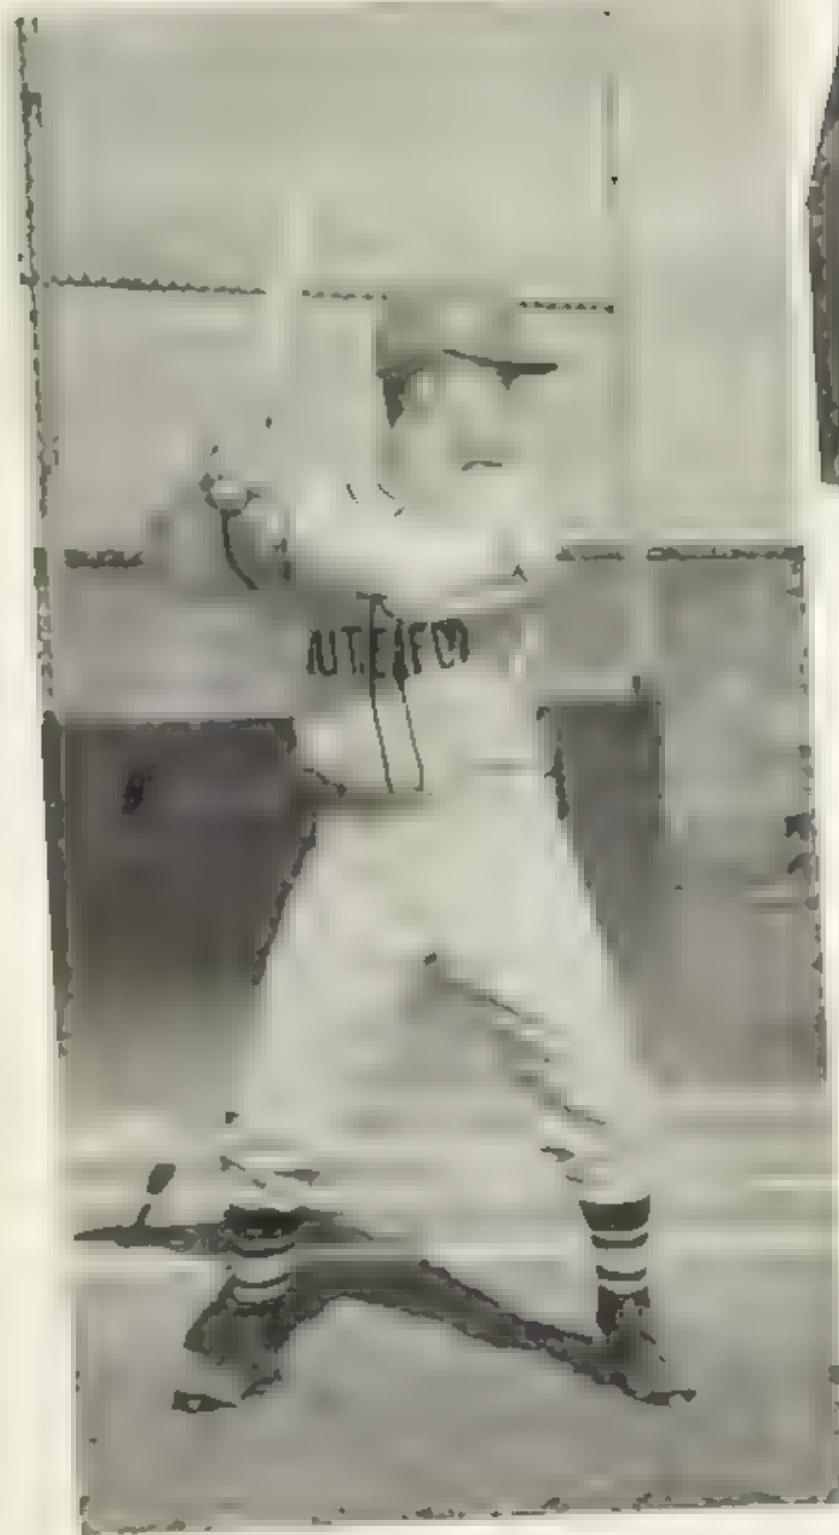

Coach Bill Eigenrauch's baseball team enjoyed a satisfactory season in 1961. Starting off slowly, the team finally began to click in the final stages of the year. Unfortunately many close games were won by the opposition. This, coupled with the early season slump, made the outlook for the season dark at times.

The splendid play of George Becker, Dennis Russell, Ted Fischer, and Mike Gibney, however, brightened the season. Their fine fielding and booming bats encouraged the Wildcats in many contests, and provided the edge in the team's victories.

Throughout the entire season, the E.R.H.S. baseball squadron displayed superior sportsmanship and played every game with enthusiasm and vigor. The efforts of the '61 team bring promise of an even more successful season next year.

The year 1960 has been an active one for the Majorettes. Under the capable leadership of C Walther, captain, the girls have added color and sparkle to the half-time exhibitions of our Wildcat marching band. Drum Majorette J. Many parades benefited from their marching, and all will agree that their performance at the Herald-News Band Festival was thrilling. Carole Walther and Judy Nussbaum have starred in twirling exhibitions at our Thanksgiving Day football games. Miss L. Zonea is their adviser.

CHEERLEADERS

With an energetic "Go Team Go" the 1966-67 cheering squad made its appearance. Their pep and enthusiasm has helped to boost school spirit and team morale when it was needed most. Adding a colorful note at basketball games with their new uniforms they never failed to do a job of which everyone can be proud. Among their many activities were the selling of chrysanthemum corsages on Turkey Day, the sale of ERHS jackets and their annual dance.

The able direction of Miss H. Mokray combined with the hard work of co-captains, B. Bode and S. Grady has made this squad one that will long be remembered.

Crowning the King and Queen

The social highlight and crowning event of the year, the Junior Prom, was held on May 13, 1960 at the Fiesta in Wood-Ridge. On this special night of music, the starry-eyed couples danced to the melodious sounds of Art Buchman's Band. The climax of the evening came as Terry D'Antonio and her escort received the coveted crown of King and Queen.

The credit for the success of the affair belongs to Miss West, class advisor, and the Junior Prom Committee, who worked so diligently to make this a night of glorious moments and treasured memories.

SHIMMERING SHAMROCK

Glorious were the moments spent at the gala affair, "Shimmering Shamrocks," on March 17, 1981. Glistening, glimmering shamrocks adorned the hall, and gaily colored balloons held a message of good fortune for all. Carefree couples danced lightly to the music of John Cimilueca's Band. At long last that moment of great anticipation arrived. That moment when the king and queen were chosen. One fortunate couple, Joyce Zloty and Michael Rotundo, won the titles of honor. Crowning the royal pair was Dorothy Deleasa, president.

Moments of ecstasy from this night's heavenly bliss will be remembered forever by all who attended.

THE CLOCK STRUCK TWELVE

A spine-tingling mystery farce provided an opportunity for the Senior Class, under Miss Mokray's direction, to demonstrate its acting abilities. Characters ranging from a mentally immature millionaire to an emaciated constable kept the audience roaring with laughter at their seemingly mysterious action.

Gerard Hendershaw's power to evoke hilarity was proven by his on stage activities—riding a bicycle in Bermuda shorts can hardly produce tenseness! With Eileen Germanski, Dianne Balbach, and Mary Jane Kowalezyk as a singing trio, The Clock Struck Twelve took on still more excitement.

All who saw this comic thriller will certainly agree that Richard Spitzlei, as the accused murderer, Frank Natoli, as the aristocrat, Loretta Kuklis, as the invalid, Dolores Sanzari, as the housekeeper, and Eric Drache, as the constable, were extremely well cast. All in all, the senior play provided a fun-filled evening of sure-fire excitement.

IN TWENTY-FIVE WORDS OR DEATH

As we reminisce through this past year, surely March 10 is a date which ranks among the most memorable. On this wintry evening the class of 1962's most talented thespians made their debut on East Rutherford High School's stage. In "25 Words or Death."

Under the skillful direction of Mrs. Miriam Kanter, this frolicking mystery farce supplied thrills, chills, fun, and excitement for all who attended.

But most certainly credit is due to the members of the cast for their splendid performance. So thanks to Marie Balestrine, George Doyle, Diane Foresta, Robert Goetz, Frank Heinze, Alvin Lipton, Rosanne Pintavalle, Muriel Rochat, Carole Sudol, and Geraldine Taranto for making March 10 a night to remember.

Dear Rossa,
In the last few months that you have been known by I am not really sorry, just hoping that there are many more months in the future to do the same. All the fun we've had, are all pleasant memories to me forever. I guess I can't mention for stay with me forever. I guess I can't mention for without mentioning the riots of the gang and all of our C.I.C. venturing. The times we stayed out too late and the trouble we got into are really something to remember.
I too, must confess that I got into trouble many times but I never told you. I never told you ever, & leaving C.R.H.S. either, but since you are, I want to wish you the best of luck and success at Stevens and after that also. I hope our friendship will last forever, because it has been just great up to this time. You will always do good in anything you desire, if you just try hard enough and don't give up.
I surely hope that the people you come into contact with in life will learn how to spell your name right. Looking through this year book, many of the kids forgot one "s", the girls name Ross, like the cleaning lady.
I hope you don't take it seriously, because I don't mean it. Maybe the kids are right, I fool around too much with you and you don't say anything. I wish that once in while you would get mad at me because then I stop. But according to your mother, I understand you too well and take a lot from you. But I think it's the other way around. I'm truly sorry for all the times I've gotten mad at you for being late or not remembering things, but I'm getting just as bad, so I shouldn't say anything. I'm really sorry, especially for the night you made me wait on the porch for twenty-five minutes. I was annoyed, but I was beginning to laugh while I was yelling. I kept telling myself if I'd you over did it this time and you were it going to get away with it. I had kept me to myself, because if I said it I would have cracked up laughing.
I was so sorry, but I'm not making sense, go I'd better quit while I'm ahead.
Well Bob Biles you always had a way.
Bob
